Making a Difference

Meaningful connections at Camp Rio Blanco over the years and a belief in how camping experiences can shape a girl's confidence, courage and character is what brings us all together in this organization. These connections build from that first time a girl sets out for her camping adventure. That first impression of the environment, the buildings, programs, new friends, and leadership can impact her decisions for years to come. The saying, "you only get one time to make a great first impression," is so true when it comes to outdoor experiences. Girls will look forward to their next adventure based on that first camp weekend or week; and it needs to be the best that it can be.

"My favorite things to do at camp are hiking, walking across the bridge over Big Sandy, and making s'mores. Sometimes, camp is a little scary. The thing I love most about camp is being there with my best friends and that makes it less scary. I can't wait to go back to camp again."
Hannah, 6th grade

Hannah first went to camp when she was 5 years old as a Daisy Girl Scout and has been every year except during Covid. Her experiences at camp and connections have helped her build courage and confidence when she is camping.

You are helping to make their camp experiences even better!

Camp Rio Blanco is a 65 year old local Girl Scout camp where girls can come explore nature, develop leadership skills, make lifelong friendships, and just be themselves.

Volunteers have been the backbone in Girl Scouts and look to take action when a difference can be made. Camp Rio Blanco Circle of Friends is a group of volunteers that are taking action to help bring some much needed updates to this vital camp property so that girls will continue to have the best space possible for generations to come.
